3 more funeral homes to drop ambulance runs

CHARLESTON — Ambulance services operated by the three principal funeral homes in Mississippi County will be discontinued Jan. 1, 1974, according to a statement issued Friday by Elgin McMikle, president of McMikle Funeral Homes Inc. of Charleston; Travis Shelby Jr., president of Shelby Funeral Home Inc. of East Prairie; and Charles Williams, vice president of Sparks Funeral Home of Charleston.

The decision to discontinue ambulance service apparently was brought about by the passage of a Senate bill which gives the state the power to regulate equipment and personnel.

In their statement, the funeral directors said, "Without federal, state or county assistance, it is impossible for us to meet the new standards of regulations in the areas of equipment and personnel.

"Nor is the necessary training offered in this area for our personnel to be trained in the manner now required, and as private businessmen we are not eligible for the necessary financial assistance which will be required."

The funeral directors had indicated earlier they would attempt to meet the state requirements in order to continue their abulance services because they had much of the needed equipment and felt an obligation to the public to provide the service as other sources were not available.

In an informal meeting Friday, the problem of acquiring a county ambulance service and who would be responsible for obtaining it were discussed with members of the County Court.

Presiding Judge Bill Winchester said following the meeting that while no commitments have been made by the court, the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission and the Missouri Judges Association had been contacted in an effort to establish who must accept the responsibility.

Kissinger takes oath of office

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger was sworn in today as secretary of state, launching a promised era of "new consensus" in the shaping of foreign policy.

Kissinger is the 56th man to hold the office but the first foreign-born, naturalized U.S. citizen in the post.

The Senate confirmed the nomination by a vote of 78 to 7 Friday after three hours of debate. The new secretary's first major assignment comes next week when he addresses the U.N. General Assembly in New York.

Kissinger was the principal foreign-policy theoretician for the administration even before Nixon named him to head the State Department. He will keep his job and office at the White House, filling a dual role with power in the field perhaps equaling that of the late John Foster Dulles, who served President Dwight D. Eisenhower as secretary of state and confidant 20 years ago.

Kissinger has promised to carry out a more open foreign policy in which Congress, the department and private citizens would have a stronger voice. "We must create a new consensus," he said at a news conference Aug. 23, the day after Nixon announced that he would replace Rogers.

Confirmation by the Senate never appeared in doubt. But concern was expressed by some senators about his acquiesence in the wiretapping of various aides at the National Security Council, ostensibly to plug the leaking of sensitive material to the press. Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., one of the seven senators who voted against confirmation, said the wiretapping was a "compelling reason", for him to oppose Kissinger.

Boy severely burned

PORTAGEVILLE Eddie Shankle, 12 - year - old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Shankle of Robin Lane, was burned severely over 80 per cent of his body in a flash fire at 6:50 a.m. today.

He was taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston, then transferred to Cardinal- Glennon Hospital in St. Louis.

The fire occurred in a playhouse lean-to where young Shankle and five other boys had spent the night in the Shankle back yard.

The Shankle boy reportedly had put gasoline in a can which was placed in the center of a concrete block in an effort to provide warmth from the cool morning air. When he lit the gasoline, his clothing was engulfed in flames.

The other boys escaped serious injury but were unsuccessful in their attempts to pull Shankle out of the lean-to. The boy's father was notified and he rescued his son.

A recent Alexandria, Va., federal district court ruling by Judge Albert V. Bryan, jr., held that private schools do not have the right to deny admission to blacks. The ruling graphically illustrates the trend toward conceptual confusion or "newspeak."

While eroding the right of persons to enter into voluntary contracts -- by forcing the demands of one person upon another -- the judge opined that by redistricting admission on racial criteria private schools are denying blacks "their right to make a contract because they are not white." The court further awarded $7,000 in "damages" to two families who had been denied admission on the grounds that they had suffered "embarrassment, humiliation, and mental anguish." One wonders why, if this was the result of dealing with a particular private school, the offended parents would want to enroll their children in such a hostile environment.

The most peculiar part of the ruling, however, was a qualifying statement made by Judge Bryan that the ruling does not pertain to such things as "all black academies, all Chinese schools and all rabbinical schools" because the purpose of civil rights law is to prohibit "all racial discrimination against nonwhites." Thus, such institutions are "free to discriminate against whites, or against other nonwhites if whites are similarly discriminated against."

How's that again?

Since the Cost of Living Council now rules that postal rates increases are exempt from Phase 4 price controls, the Postal Service plans to increase the mail rates for newspapers and magazines within the next two weeks.

Also, the CLC announced it would not challenge the new wage increases agreed between the Postal Service and nearly 700,000 workers.

We will let our mail subscribers know how much this will raise our mail subscription rates -- as soon as we get the word. So we reckon price and wage controls only apply to business and individuals outside of government.

Guess we can call that "blood money", as one way to reduce our tax bill.

The August 1, 1973 U.S.D.A. estimates placed the volume of winter wheat produced in the states of Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Colorado and New Mexico at near 709 million bushels, an all time high. The acreage harvested is placed at 21,592,000 acres. Since World War II the crop second to that of 1973 was in 1947 when almost 573 million bushels were harvested from 32,109,000 acres; with only two other crops, those of 1958 and 1960 exceeding 550 million bushels.

With final preparation of land and seeding of early acreage of the 1974 winter wheat crop under way, the mid- August announcement of removal of all acreage restrictions for the planting of the 1974 wheat crop may cause some shifts of acreage from other crops to wheat, although many farmers appear to be weighing carefully the possibility of use of some acreage for winter wheat, especially where vegetative cover and -or surface moisture does not appear to be adequate to provide protection from damage from high winds during the coming winter and spring months. Since farmers' average age is older than that of many other professions most remember the dry weather and associated wind erosion problems and poor yields of the "dirty thirties" and the "filthy fifties." As an example, Santa Fe Crop Report points out that the five states mentioned which produced almost 709 million bushels of winter wheat this year produced only slightly more than 185 million bushels from the "dry weather" crop of 1955.

It was good news to read the HEW Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger has slashed his department's public relations staff by 33 per cent and is considering still another massive cutback. Weinberger, who took over the HEW post earlier this year, was shocked to find 1,200 flacks on the public payroll, costing taxpayers $175 million a year. That's just too much money and too much puffery.

OPPORTUNITY FOR NIXON

The U. S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia has made the common- sense suggestion that the President and Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox jointly listen to the tapes of presidential conversations and decide which should be made available to the grand jury investigating the Watergate scandal. Such a solution would spare the courts the necessity of deciding the delicate executive privilege and separation of powers question raised by the White House.

The trouble with the solution, from the President's point of view, is that it would give Cox access to the tapes. The President until now has rebuffed every overture by the Ervin committee and Cox to listen to the tapes informally without resorting to legal procedures. The President has forced the legal confrontation by refusing to allow anyone but his associates to hear the tapes.

The President has had it within his power all along to waive "executive privilege" and make voluntary disclosure. Such action in the Watergate case would enable the President to preserve his claim in all future cases that presidential conversations are protected by confidentiality. A waiver would apply just to Watergate and would in no way prejudice a president's efforts to assert "executive privilege."

The circuit court's action in effect is a request to the President that he waive his legal claims and make voluntary disclosure to the special prosecutor.

If the President rejects the request, he will be responsible for precipitating a constitutional crisis by forcing the courts to draw a line in the murky regions separating the powers of the respective branches of government. A rejection of the request also would strengthen the public's already strong conviction that the President is fighting disclosure not because of legal principle but because of what the tapes reveal.

Cox has said repeatedly that he has no interest in prosecuting for the sake of prosecution. His office was established to see that justice is done. The tapes in the President's possession are a possible aid in clearing the innocent and convicting the guilty. The circuit court's proposal provides the President with an opportunity to quit obstructing justice and to assist the government in law enforcement.

FLOATING ROOF KEEPS WATER SUPPLY CLEAN

Reservoirs and city industrial waste ponds are now being covered by plastic or rubber- coated roofs, manufactured by the Firestone Coated Fabrics Co., Magnolia, Ark.

In addition to protecting drinking water from airborne contaminants and other debris, the roofs reduce evaporation during the warmer months, retard or eliminate algae growth, and cut potential maintenance costs due to clogging.

At waste ponds and sewage tanks the roofs reduce air pollution by preventing most odors and other impurities from escaping into the atmosphere.

DEEP-RUNNING TRAIT

Occasionally a story appears telling of how a commercial enterprise becomes the property and the responsibility of its former employees. The president of a financially ailing railroad has proposed that the line's 14,000 employees chip in to buy and run it as a closed corporation. The idea behind the proposal was well expressed by the railroad's president when he said, "... A train crew that owns a piece of the railroad is going to be a lot more careful about banging cars around in the yard ..."

In plain English, if the people who work for the railroad own it, they are going to strive to make it a paying proposition. This single incident shows the fallacy of the theory that the day is coming when corporations and businesses generally will work for the good of society, regardless of profit. The profit motive, it is said, will become obsolete. That may be so, but rare is the person who is wholly unmindful or uncaring of whether he earns a fair reward for a day's work. If people, by nature, are so free-handed with their talents, why are there so many strikes and tie-ups in basic industries? And why are the nation's major labor unions demanding wage settlements which are far beyond the current rate of inflation?

The profit motive is a deep-running trait of human nature and is the source of most of our progress.

GOOD PEOPLE HAVE SOME RIGHTS, TOO

An eloquent plea for a just society in which legitimate grievances are redressed by a caring government and in which the freedom of dissent and protest is respected was made the other day by former U. S. Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg.

People obey and respect law not just out of fear of punishment but also because of what the law does for them, he noted in ceremonies marking the 100th anniversary of the Cleveland, Ohio, Bar Association.

"All the police power in creation cannot long uphold a system of law that does not meet the reasonable expectations and needs of people and correct their legitimate grievances," he said.

"Suppression and repression," he cauctioned, "is the surest road to widespread civil disobedience."

This is all very nobel and all very fine, but it doesn't have very much to do with reality in America today.

The problem in America today is not civil disobedience or the suppression thereof, nor was it even at the height of the Vietnam war or the racial upheavals of the '60s. The problem is not political freedom.

But since the former justice brought up the matter of reasonable expectations, it would seem that one of them should have to do with the right of Americans to be free from the fear of the theft of their property in their homes or attack on their persons in the streets of their cities.

As for legitimate grievances, the old woman who is beaten and robbed and left in a dark alley, the inner- city store owner who dares not turn his back on a customer, the ghetto- dweller who lives behind barricades or the suburbanite who is afraid even to drive down certain streets would seem to have complaints at least equal to those of the punks who are turning much of America into a jungle.

To paraphrase Goldberg, all the lofty rhetoric in creation cannot long uphold a system of law that does not meet the minimum requirement of a civilized society — the safety of its citizens.

TWO CHOICES

Construction of electric power generating plants in a remote region of the Southwest called Four Corners, where the states of Arizona, New Mexico, Utah and Colorado join, has been the focal point of a major environmental controversy. The investor - owned power companies involved in the project have been special targets of the kind of environmentalism that wages a crusade against the production of energy -- the kind that would revert to wood fires and candlelight.

In an endeavor to help bring the entire question of environment and energy into more reasonable perspective, an Arizona utility has published a timely full-page newspaper advertisement. It says a few things that the antienergy environmentalists overlook. For example, the company's plant at Four Corners makes electricity for a million Arizonans. It adds, "It also pollutes the air with fly ash. You don't like fly ash and we don't like it. So, by the end of this year, two of our smokestacks will be at least 99.22 per cent clean of fly ash. And the remaining two stacks will be just as clean by the end of 1973. The new pollution control devices are costing more than $40 million to design, construct and install."

The advertisement points out that most environmental protection systems use electric energy. These include: water purification plants, garbage disposal and recycling of waste materials, etc. However, it adds, "Two things must happen before these environment protection systems become a widespread reality ... You must want them enough to pay for them through increased taxes or prices." And there must be ... enough electricity to power them." The advertisement states bluntly that electricity does create some pollution, but it can clean up significantly more pollution than it creates.

Two choices face our growing population: Either commit some sort of mass suicide or use our brains and technology to lick our problems and move ahead to a higher and brighter state of civilization.

The playboy bachelor took a cute dish to dinner at a swank place. The girl took one look at the menu and began to order.

"I'll have a double shrimp cocktail," she began, "then some clam chowder, corned beef and cabbage with boiled potato, Caesar salad with garlic dressing, apple pie with peach ice cream and a little bit of cheddar cheese on the side."

She turned to her escort. "And what do you think I should drink to wash it down?" she asked pleasantly.

"Oh, I don't know," replied her date casually. "How about one of the Great Lakes?"

Inside White House: A 'Vice President Shultz' Is Seen By Some Insiders If Agnew Resigns

WASHINGTON — There are, in rarefied White House circles, those who say quietly, President Nixon is thinking of replacing Spiro Agnew with Secretary of the Treasury George Shultz if and when the Vice President quits.

These are the very same sources which informed me early in August -- six weeks before the story broke nationally -- that there would be heavy Executive Mansion pressure on Ted Agnew to take a walk.

The possibility of a "Vice President George Shultz" doesn't startle the deep insiders. The genial professorial ex- Marine has been one of the President's trusted favorites ever since one of the early 1969 Cabinet sessions. And George is the only member of the original cast still in the Cabinet.

During one of my conversations with the President in May 1970, Mr. Nixon spoke glowingly of Shultz as his personal economist. Then the President moved him into the White HOuse from the Secretary of Labor slot. Then into the Treasury. And finally as a sort of roving ambassador for global trouble- shooting such as Shultz now is handling in Nairobi, Kenya.

Shultz never has lost an inner- circle fight. Always the President has supported him. Recently, when Shultz fired off that "keep his cotton-picking hands off economic policy" volley at Nixon's domestic adviser Mel Laird, the President laughed loudly and amusedly asked chief aide Al Haig to send a "cease and desist"good-humored memo to Shultz who was in Hawaii for some golfing relaxation on his way home from Tokyo.

There was a moment not too long ago when many believed the embattled Shultz would not last the day. But again the President backed him during some struggles with John Connally and others.

And when Shultz flew in from the Orient recently, Mr. Nixon summoned him to the Oval Office for a 3 p.m. conference Monday, Sept. 17. There Shultz, Al Haig and the President discussed Laird's statement that a tax increase was being considered. The President assured Shultz that no economic policies would be seriously discussed without the Treasury Secretary.

The President said there positively would not be a new tax bill. And that the way to fight inflation was to slash spending and, by heavens, he would, was Dick Nixon's message in that private conversation.

The whole thing was a tempest in a teapot, it was said. Furthermore, knowledgeable men knew no increased tax bill could get through this Congress.

What with the high cost of living such a proposal was silly. Anyway, the powerful Democratic Congressman Wilbur Mills of Arkansas would not be back this session because of spine surgery, and without this chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee the whole matter was jawboning.

Shultz, who, of course, is opposed to a higher tax, was well satisfied with the President's warm reception, quick analysis and swift assurances.

Furthermore, Shultz and other insiders know that the President himself now makes all economic decisions. Mel Laird merely had tried to straighten out the impression previously given by Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur Burns that there might well be a tax increase.

Laird had asked the deans of the White House press corps to invite him to a briefing. And it had misfired. Shultz was assured Mel is not making policy.

Indeed he isn't. President Nixon is even supervising important Cost of Living Council decisions.

Recently, for example, when Prof. John Dunlop's council had approved some delayed- action steel and auto price increases, Mr. Nixon had to assent first very privately. So it will be with the United Auto Workers' pact with Chrysler now and next with Ford and finally with General Motors -- and gasoline.

Through all this the President counts heavily on the soft- spoken, even- tempered Shultz. It is a mixture of respect and obsession.

Thus when some White House staffers launched their anti- Agnew campaign and words of an imminent resignation deluged the capital, there was Oval Office discussion of the 52- year- old Shultz, formerly of the University of Chicago, as an Agnew replacement.

But there is more than the President's personal motivations. Under the Constitution's 25th Amendment, the approval of Congress is needed for a vice presidential successor.

This Democratic- Liberal-Labor Congress is not apt to confirm a vice presidential appointee such as Nelson Rockefeller or John Connally, who could use the vice presidency as the base for a 1976 presidential nomination and/or election campaign.

Rather, it was reasoned, the best bet would be a "caretaker." Many caretaker names were mongered. Even that of Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker. But Shultz led all the rest deep among the tiny handful of insiders. He was their concept of a perfect caretaker.

There is one more plus for Shultz -- he is still friendly with George Meany's powerful labor bloc. That wouldn't be a hindrance.

These days who can reckon the odds on anything? But regardless of what Nick the Greek offers, there could well be a "Vice President Shultz."

Washington Merry-Go-Round

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: U.S. Hands Clean In Chile Coup

WASHINGTON — We have been deluged with inquiries from all over the world about possible U. S. involvement in the overthrow of President Salvador Allende in Chile.

Because we exposed the ITT-CIA plot to block Allende from assuming power in 1970, newspapers in many countries have asked us whether the CIA was also behind the military coup which left Allende dead in the presidential palace last week.

We have checked carefully with the best sources available to us in the White House, State Department, Pentagon and CIA. Here's what we have found:

For the past few months, Washington has been bombarded with intelligence reports from Chile warning of "discontent and plotting in the military services." Only the day before the takeover, a Chilean military officer informed the U.S. embassy in Santiago that a coup was imminent.

NO EVIDENCE

The warning, however, wasn't treated as any more significant than dozens of similar reports that have been passed on to Washington recently. We could find no evidence that Washington knew in advance what the Chilean generals were planning.

The sudden arrival in Washington of Nathaniel Davis, the U.S. ambassador to Chile, on the weekend before the takeover has been cited as evidence that the United States must have had some inkling of the plot. On the contrary, we have learned that Davis chose that weekend for his visit because he expected it to be comparatively calm in Santiago.

He was summoned to Washington by Henry Kissinger who, in anticipationn of his confirmation as secretary of state, wanted to assess a few top diplomats for possible Washington assignments. Because of the volatile situation in Chile, Kissinger specified that Davis should choose the most quiet time to come to Washington.

Davis, of course, knew about the stirrings within the Chilean armed forces. But he had emphasized in his secret cables that "events move slowly in Chile, or perhaps better said, Chileans have great ability to rush to the brink, embrace each other and back off."

DEPARTMENT MATTERS

When Davis met with Kissinger, according to our sources, they spent no more than five or 10 minutes reviewing the Chilean situation. Most of their discussion was devoted to internal State Department matters.

It is possible that the CIA may have been involved in some minor project against Allende. But the CIA is forbidden to intervene in any major foreign operation without the specific approval of the hush- hush Forty Committee, which passes on undercover operations. Our sources, who have access to the secret deliberations of the Forty Committee, assure us that no project was approved to depose Allende.

The Pentagon, meanwhile, has been furnishing arms to the Chilean military establishment. After Allende came to power, the White House considered cutting off military aid to Chile. The decision was made to continue arms shipments because the Chilean generals were known to be anti- Allende.

For example, $12.4 million worth of credits were granted to the Chilean armed forces last year for the purchase of U.S. military supplies and the training of Chilean officers. The Pentagon had no direct part, however, in the plot against Allende.

DEADLY ENEMIES: The Watergate developments have taken an ironic twist which has left the two ringleaders, G. Gordon Liddy and E. Howard Hunt, deadly enemies.

Liddy is a fanatic who offered to submit to being gunned down in the streets, Mafia- style, for his failure at Watergate. When his startled superiors declined to arrange his execution, he went to prison, lips grimly sealed.

Hunt is a romantic who played the spy role until the plot turned out not to have a storybook ending. He was one of the first to break and to throw himself upon the mercy of the prosecutors.

When he told the other Watergate conspirators that he had broken his secrecy oath, according to prison sources, Liddy hollered for a guard. "Keep me away from him," Liddy growled, referring to Hunt, "or I'll kill him!"

That was the last time Liddy and Hunt have spoken to one another.

KEY WIT NESS

Now Hunt appears to be the key government witness against the Cubans he recruited to do his dirty work.

His flair for the dramatic gave him a charismatic sway over the Cubans. He had been their CIA superior during the Bay of Pigs fandango, and he returned 10 years later to recruit them for the Daniel Ellsberg and Watergate capers.

With heroic words that could have come from one of his own spy novels, Hunt swore them to secrecy. After their arrest, he persuaded them to plead guilty rather than risk revealing what they knew in a court trial.

Hunt, meanwhile, collected most of the $460,000 hush money that the White House crowd passed out to buy the silence of the Watergate defendants. Less than $27,000 filtered down to the Cubans, who gave half of it to their first attorney, Henry Rothblatt.

CAN'T PAY LAWYER

Today, the Cubans are so broke that they can't pay their new lawyer, Daniel Schultz, a struggling young attorney, who has informed them he may be forced to give up the case and turn them over to a public defender.

Up until recently, the Cubans had obeyed Hunt's instructions to keep their mouths shut particularly about the burglary of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office. Hunt had warned that this was a national security mission.

Now the special prosecutors have indicated to Schultz that Hunt has been granted federal immunity to testify against the Cubans in the Ellsberg case.

FOOTNOTE: Schultz told us the special prosecutor spent four hours with his clients trying to persuade them to plead guilty to burglarizing the psychiatrist's office.

Prairie to install first water meters

EAST PRAIRIE — Installation of approximately 1,000 water meters will begin shortly, according to City Manager Robert Kakac, who said it would be necessary for the city to obtain or train personnel qualified to read meters upon completion of their installation.

Billing for the system was discussed, and an electronic billing machine which could be used for additional city business is being considered.

Among other things the council, upon advice from the city attorney, decided to investigate further the proposition for an association with other towns in the vicinity interested in purchasing the natural gas line and distribution center from Arkansas- Missouri Power Co. of Blytheville, Ark. A meeting is to be held Monday at Sikeston.

Secretariat has been syndicated for $6,080,000.

Zalma youth is charged with manslaughter

BLOOMFIELD — A manslaughter charge has been filed against 18-year-old Randy Dean Moore of Zalma, Route Three in connection with the death early Saturday of Mrs. Melba Shirlene Chapman Maclin, 20, of Bell City.

The highway patrol said Mrs. Maclin was thrown from an overturning car driven by the Moore youth on Highway 91 one mile north of Advance. Moore also was thrown from the speeding car but suffered only minor injuries.

LONDON (AP) — The 81-year-old Duke of Leinster is offering 21,000 plots of historic English countryside to American buyers.

The land, in Sussex, where William the Conquerer stepped ashore, is available in plots of 25 square feet at $125 to $310 each, and the whole area is to be maintained as a park.

Short circuit causes fire

VANDUSER — A fire which broke out at 8:55 p.m. Friday in a mobile home owned by Alvin McClain was extinguished with a garden hose before it could spread beyond the bedroom in which it started.

The Sikeston fire department was called, but the fire was out by the time firemen arrived.

McClain told firemen he thought a lamp in the back bedroom short circuited and started the fire.

Scouts discuss activities

Mrs. Sargent is Girl Scout leader 15 years

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles about long- time Girl Scout leaders who think others should know how rewarding the scouting program can be.)

She has been a consultant on the Junior and Cadette level and an adult volunteer trainer for Junior, Cadette and Senior levels for a number of years.

As a result of attending an arts and crafts workshop sponsored by the National Girl Scout Council, she served as a volunteer trainer in a council- sponsored arts and crafts workshop.

For 12 years she has worked with day camps in various capacities and served as a nurse at Camp Latonka during the second session for the past three summers.

She was tour director of the first council- sponsored Senior trip to Washington, D. C., and has accompanied three council- sponsored Cadette trips to various locations.

Ann Landers

Shoplifter says day of reckoning scary

Dear Ann Landers: May I add a word to that school teacher's advice to kids who shoplift? What she knows she learned in books. I am a 16-year- old girl who is talking from experience. I've been ripping off merchandise since I was 13. I started out just the way that punk did, with small items--- pens, candy bars, chewing gum and dime- store jewelry.

By the time I was 15 I graduated to sweaters, dresses, makeup and underwear. Then I went on to radios, tape recorders, cameras--- stuff I could sell.

I never had one ounce of guilt. I'd tell myself, "Why shouldn't I have it? Serves them right for leaving merchandise out where people can grab it. I am smarter than they are and in this world, smartness pays off."

I was nailed by a store detective when I was 15. The manager called my mother. She came down and I got a lecture. That stopped me for a month. Then I started again.

Three months ago I was caught with $85 worth of stuff on me. This time it was no lecture. I was handcuffed, fingerprinted, got mug shots and the works. I had to stay in the police station for six hours. I spent the night in jail. Right now my folks have to pay close to $1,000 for a lawyer and I am blacklisted throughout the entire store chain.

I am not writing this letter to scare anybody. All I am saying is if any kid out there wants to lift, go ahead. But he sure as hell is going to get caught and that will be the saddest day of his life.--- Hard Way

Dear Hard Way: When kids hear it from one of their own they pay closer attention. Sometimes. I appreciate your writing and I hope you got through.

Dear Ann Landers: An Open Letter to the Veterinarian's Helper with the Fat Cat:

If you don't want your neighbor to feed your cat, keep her at home, even though this may mean confining her to your house or constructing a roofed pen in your yard.

Most of the common problems faced by cat and dog owners (especially those of concerned neighbors) can be solved in one word: FENCE. The cruelest thing an animal lover can do to a pet is to allow it to roam free. It could be poisoned, run over by a car, shot, killed by another animal, or, at the very least--- overfed.--- G. S. B. (Assistant Women's Editor, Santa Rosa Press- Democrat.)

Dear G.: You've said it all. Thank you.

Dear Ann Landers: I married a girl I'll call Margaret. She was 26 years old and had never been away from home one single night. I thought she'd get over her attachment to her mother when we moved out of town to live.

We have lived in Canton, Ohio, for nearly seven weeks. Nearly every night Margaret is on the phone crying to her mother about some darned fool thing. Either her fudge was too hard or she put a purple sock in the wash with a white blouse. This afternoon she gave herself a permanent and it came out looking like an Afro hair- do. She phoned her mother and bawled for ten minutes. What can I do about this?--- Dan

Dear Dan: I hope Margaret is bawling after 8:00 p.m. It's cheaper.

Obviously this girl is grossly immature and she's not getting enough emotional support from you or she wouldn't be leaning so heavily on her mother. I suggest counseling for both of you before Margaret picks up and goes home to Mama.

Later in the same period the Jays scored again with Black running for the touchdown. Senior quarterback Junior Delay attempted the two- point conversion but with no luck and the Jays led 12-0.

Jackson rushed for 356 yards to 131 for Malden. The Indians also absorbed 100 yards in penalties to only five for the Greenwave.

Mark Jones, the Indian quarterback charged over from the two yard line for the opening score and Rob Litz added the first of six extra points for the game. In the second period Loren Sides broke through the line for 40 yards to score and Mike Mims added another TD on a 70 yard punt return for a 21-0 halftime lead.

Loren Sides scored his second touchdown in the third period on a two yard smash in the third period and Mark Jones and Rick Law crossed the goal line in the fourth quarter.

Tigers have close call

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The Cape Central Tigers crashed through the line and nailed Ron Cypert, the Hazelwood quarterback, for a two point safety with 7:38 left in the game to down the Hawks 15-12 here Friday night.

Cypert hit Kent Tracy with 8:20 left in the first quarter to give the Hawks a 6-0 lead and the touchdown stood up until the third period.

The Central Tigers put together a 61 yard drive with Bob Richard plunging over from the one yard line to tie the game at 6-6 as the extra point was no good.

After Hazelwood took a 12-6 lead Bill Seabaugh passed to Jeff Hotlon for three yards for a touchdown.

Cape Central rushed for 235 yards to 100 for the Hawks. Hazelwood passed for 129 yards to Cape's 30. The game was not interrupted by many penalties as 25 yards went against the Hazelwood team and 15 against Cape Central.

Dons defense holds

THAYER — The Doniphan Dons marked their first victory with a 28 to 0 win over the Thayer Bobcats last night. Tim Odom was the leading rusher for the Dons with 21 carries for 169 yards. In the first quarter Tim Odom ran for 15 yards to score the first touchdown and Rick Donnell kicked the extra point to make it 7-0 at the end of the first quarter. Tim Odom scored the second touchdown with a 10 yard run and again Rick Donnell converted to make the score 14-0 at the half.

In the third quarter Steve Donnell carried the ball 10 yards for the first, third quarter touchdown. Tim Odom ran the ball for the two point conversion, this gave Odom 16 points for the night. Cats go to air for win

PORTAGEVILLE — The Dexter Bearcats ran into a stubborn Bulldog line in the first half of their Southern Division league game here Friday but finally went to the air route to pull out their first victory of the season 27-19.

This was the first Southern Conference football game for each team. Both Dexter and Portageville went down to defeat in the opening game of the season to Northern Division foes.

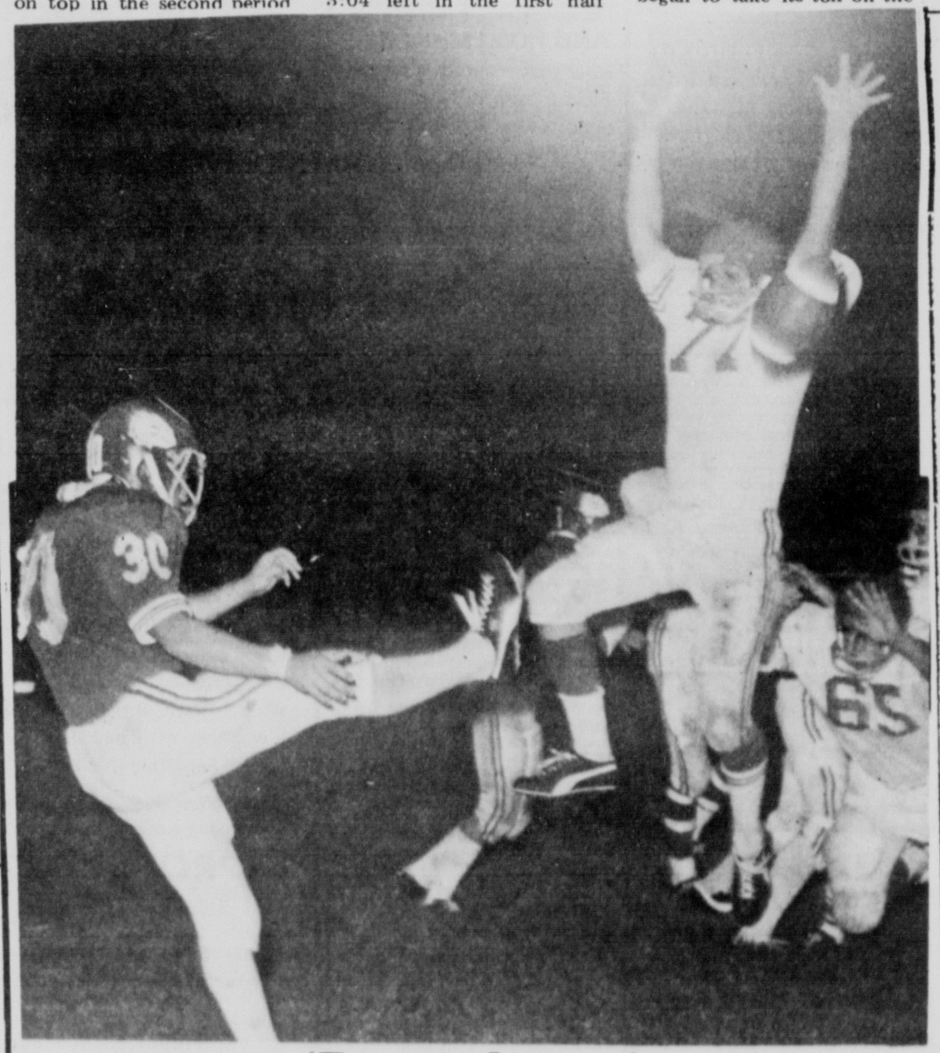
Coach Clyde Vaughn's Bearcat defense was more than Portageville could handle for the most part of the game as Coach Jim McKay's offense fooled the Bearcats on a draw play from midfield on a second and 20 yard to go situation. Halfback Billy Gibson burst through the line for the long touchdown run.

Dexter lost a good opportunity to score in the first quarter as Don Backfish hit Greg Miller for a 40 yard completion only to have the Bearcats fumble on the five yard line.

After Portageville broke on top in the second period 6-0 Dexter went to work and after a march down field Jay Lemons burst over from the three yard line to tie the score. Backfish kicked the extra point to give the Bearcats the lead 7-6. With 3:04 left in the first half Backfish hit Greg Miller for a 65 yard TD as the Bulldogs pulled up for a fake run.

In the second half the Bearcats kept the pressure on the Bulldogs as inexperience began to take its toll on the host team.

Portageville kept fighting back in the last few minutes of the game as Gibson scored his second TD of the game in the third period and Merlin Thomas scored in fourth period.



'Petty charge'

Dexter's big Steve Petty rushes in to block a Portageville Bulldog punt during Southern Division league play at PHS Friday night. Billy Gibson is kicking for the Dogs. Dexter won the battle, 27-19 and left their hosts still looking for their first season victory while evening their own mark a 1-1.

Pirate miscue

Sikeston's only score Friday night came when Perryville's punter kicked the ball into the back of his own teammate and the charging Roy Bowman (87) fell on it in the end zone for the score.

Dogs winless

The scrappy Perryville Pirates maintained their mastery over the Sikeston Bulldogs on the gridiron Friday night, recording their sixth straight victory in the series, 14-6. The win gave the justling Pirates a 2-0 season mark and 1-0 record in the Northern Division of the Southeast Missouri Football Conference, while the loss dropped the Dogs to 0-2 overall and 0-1 in the league.

Penalities 98 yards of them continues to plague the courageous Dogs, just as they did last week against Farmington when 95 yards were walked off.

Coach Terry Smith, who coached the Pirates for five seasons guided them to a state title in 1969 before coming to Sikeston this year, was well pleased with his new team's effort and praised their work while pointing out that the "red flag" doomed the Dogs again.

"Our boys played their hearts out," Coach Smith noted. "I am as proud as I can be about their effort."

The Bulldog defense hit hard and showed much improvement over last week against the run up the middle, but again gave way to the sweep at times. The last time nailed the final pegs into the Dogs defeat when Richard Kramer got loose for 55 yards and a touchdown with only minutes left in the game.

Once again the SHS offense, which is often referred to as the "Big O" sputtered and failed to take advantage of a pair of chances within the Pirates' 30-yard line. SHS's only score came in the second period when Roy Bowman fell on a blacked punt in the end zone. The running backs had trouble holding onto the ball, and passing yielded three interceptions.

"I can't explain it," coach Smith said when asked about the backfield's loss of the ball "The ball had to be a little wet, but there were a lot of new people back there, too."

Perryville won the opening toss and elected to receive. The Bulldog defense ran the Pirates back 30 yards from the line of scrimmage and forced a punt after the first series of downs.

The Bulldog offense failed to generate any threat at all during the night as the Pirate defense with stood charge after charge and took advantage of the sloppy SHS ball-handling.

The first of a few questionable red flags set up PHS's first TD when a Bulldog defensive back stumbled over a Pirate receiver who had stumbled. The official called pass interference and the Pirates marched over the goal line from there with Roger Schremp carring the final nine yards. Another interference call made a two-point conversion easier as Schremp dove one yard for an 8-0 lead.

Curtis Bonds' hustle helped set up the lone Bulldog score, when the big 200-plus pound linemen downed a SHS kick on the two-yard line. The Dogs' "Big D" held their ground and forced a punt which rebounded off a Pirate lineman and Bowman fell on it for the only Bulldog score, which came in the second quarter.

Charles Scott gave the Bulldogs a late game chance at taking the lead when he rushed into block a Pirate punt and give the Dogs the ball on the 25-yard line. Penalties and an interception snuffed out that threat, and the Dogs were never again able to get any closer than the 50-yard stripe.

Perryville controlled the game, having the ball for 51 plays while the Dogs managed possession for only 35.

Maybe the change of scenery next week will help the Bulldogs break their six-game losing streak, including the final four last year.

But, the competition doesn't get any lighter as the Dogs will face their arch-rival, the Charleston Blue Jays, on the CHS grid. Charleston's defense hasn't been scored upon this year, blanking Portageville and Perryville St. Vincent.

The defenses for both teams was extremely tough as neither team could cross the goal line on plays from the scrimmage line. The final touchdown of the night came on a 20 yard pass interception by Danny White in the fourth quarter of play to give the Indians the victory.

Boost cotton yield with narrow rows

PORTAGEVILLE — Looks like narrow rows will become a big part of the "new cotton culture" in this part of the country.

"Narrow rows just make better use of the soil," reported Jim Roth, soil scientist at the Delta Center. "With the right fertilizer rates, we got up to 346 pounds more lint per acre in 20- inch rowws than we did in standard 38's.

"In some cases we had to put on twice as much nitrogen per acre on clay soil (200 pounds vs. 100). That costs $10 more, but gave us $30 worth of extra cotton."

Roth is comparing fertilizer rates on different soils to figure out which rates are most profitable.

"There's no point putting on fertilizer you don't need," he said. "On our silt loam plots, for example, we didn't get any higher yields from adding fertilizer because the soil already had adequate fertility levels.

"But those plots did show us the advantage of going to 20- inch rows. We doubled plant population and increased lint yields from 576 to 921 pounds."

Roth, in a research project supported by Cotton Inc., works with other Delta Center scientists to develop a "new model cotton" for southeast Missouri. Ideally, this will be a short- season cotton that can be planted after and harvested before conventional cotton.

The "new model cotton" will have to be a good yielder before growers will accept it.

"There's no point telling a grower he should go to narrow rows unless he can get at least 200 pounds more lint per acre," claimed Roth. "He'll also want varieties that will respond better to fertilizer so he can make more money. After all, that's why he's in business."

Today in U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, Sept. 22, the 265th day of 1973. There are 100 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1952, Richard Nixon, campaigning for the vice presidency, went on nationwide radio and television to refute allegations of wrongdoing in accepting an $18,000 expense fund. It's become known as the "Checkers" speech.

On this date—

In 1776, Nathan Hale was hanged as a spy by the British and he uttered the immortal words: "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country."

In 1789, the U.S. Supreme Court was established.

In 1862, President Abraham Lincoln issued the preliminary Emancipation Proclamation.

State dismisses murder charges against Leon Orr

CARUTHERSVILLE — Murder and first- degree robbery charges filed against Leon Orr, 19, formerly of Blytheville, Ark., were dismissed by the state Friday morning.

Orr and four other men are accused of participating in a murder spree this spring that stretched from Osceola, Ark., to Ste. Genevieve, leaving four persons dead and two others injured.

In addition to Orr, those charged are his brother, Eddie Lee Orr, 21, formerly of Blytheville; Howard Coleman, 18, of Tarpon Springs, Fla.; his brother, Charles Coleman, 22, of St. Louis; and Danny Jerome Sims, 19, of Blytheville.

They are accused of a series of service station murder-robberies that began March 31 when Clay Elmore's Interstate 55 service station at Osceola was held up. Elmore was shot and left for dead and his 42-year - old wife Hazel was murdered.

On April 5, an Interstate 55 service station near Holland in the lower Bootheel was robbed and the 18- year - old station attendant, Robert Wayne Fisk of Steele, shot to death.

Eight days later, on April 13, another Interstate 55 service station, this one at Ste. Genevieve, was held up. The 18- year - old attendant, Rick Stretch of Ste.Genevieve, was fatally wounded. A customer, Thomas C. Davis, 19, of Weingarten, also was killed. A third man, Mark Baumgartner, 19, of Ste. Genevieve, was wounded but recovered.

Leon Orr, Eddie Orr and Howard Coleman were charged with the murder of Fisk, and a preliminary hearing for Leon Orr was held in Caruthersville Friday morning.

Earlier this year, the murder charge against Howard Coleman was dropped after he agreed to testify against the Orr brothers.

During Friday's preliminary hearing, however, Coleman refused to testify, and, according to Pros. Atty. Arthur Stephenson, "there was no way we could continue to hold (Leon) Orr."

Stephenson recommended to Magistrate Sidney Chaffin that the charges against Orr be dropped and Friday afternoon he was returned to Scott County where he faces two counts of murder, robbery and assault with intent to kill in connection with the Ste. Genevieve crime.

The prosecutor said that since Coleman had refused to testify against Orr, murder charges again will be filed against him.

Coleman is being held without bond in the Pemiscot County Jail.

With Leon Orr in the Scott County jail is Charles Coleman. He is accused of participating in the Ste. Genevieve murders.

Eddie Lee Orr, charged in all four murders, is in a mental hospital at Fulton, Mo., undergoing psychiatric tests.

Sims, accused of participating in the Osceola murder, still is being held in the Mississippi County Jail at Luxor... Ark.

SERIES OF ELEVEN ANIMATED SPECIALS BASED ON CLASSICS TO BE PRESENTED ON THE CBS TELEVISION NETWORK IN 1973-74

Eleven classic examples of literary legends, encompassing characters from Spanish Main porates to British royalty, and authors from Daniel Defoe to Mark Twain, will be presented under the title "Family Classics Theater" on the CBS Television Network during the 1973-74 season in a series of animated specials, eight of which are produced by Air Programs International and the remaining three by Hanna-Barbera Productions, Inc.

Sponsor for the specials, each of which is based on a literary classic, will be the Craft, Game and Toy Division of General Mills, represented by Leonard M. Sive and Associates, Inc.

The series will include six new specials: "The Count of Monte Cristo," to be broadcast Sunday, Sept. 23 (4:00-5:00 PM, CDT); "Kidnapped," Monday, Oct. 22(3:30-4:30 PM,CST); "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, Nov. 22 (2:30-3:30 PM,CST); "The Three Musketeers," Friday, Nov. 23 3:30-4:30 PM, CST); and "The Black Arrow," Sunday, Dec. 2 (4:00-5:00 PM, CST).

Also included will be rebroadcasts of "The Legend of Robin Hood," Sunday Sept. 30 (4:00-5:00 PM, CDT); "Robinson Crusoe," Monday, Oct. 8 (3:30-4:30 PM. CDT); "Treasure Island," Tuesday, Nov. 6 (3:30-4:30 PM, CST); "The Prince and the Pauper," Sunday, Nov. 11 (4:00-5:00 PM. CST), and "A Christmas Carol," Saturday, Dec. 8 (3:00-4:00 PM, CST).

The three Hanna- Barbera productions are "The Count of Monte Cristo," based on Alexandre Dumas' 19th- century novel of the intrigue and vengeance that follow its protagonist Edmond Dantes; "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," Jules Verne's famous imaginative 1869 concept of the then unheard- of submarine, and Robert Louis Stevenson's "The Black Arrow," the historical romance set against the 15th-century background of a minor battle of the War of the Roses.

The eight animated specials produced by Air Programs International will include two other Robert Louis Stevenson masterpieces: "Treasure Island," the tale of mystery and adventure involving young Jim Hawkins that has become a part of boyhood, and "Kidnapped," the ageless story of high adventure at sea and through the lowlands and highlands of Scotland.

Other API- produced braodcasts will be "The Legend of Robin Hood," taken from the ballads built around the unorthodix chivalry of the early 13th- century folk hero of England's Sherwood Forest; "Robinson Crusoe," Daniel Defoe's immortal tale of the solitary shipwrecked character and his "life and strange surprising adventures" on an uninhabited tropical island, and another famed story of shipwreck survivors, Johann Rudolf Wyss' "The Swiss Family Robinson."

Also from API will come Mark Twain's special brand of humor in "The Prince and the Pauper"; another of Alexandre Dumas' works -- and perhaps his most famous -- "The Three Musketeers," and Charels Dickens' beloved "A Christmas Carol."
